As Director of Information Policy Studies at the Cato Institute, Jim Harper works to adapt law and policy to the unique problems of the information age, in areas such as privacy, telecommunications, intellectual property, and security. Harper was a founding member of the Department of Homeland Security's Data Privacy and Integrity Advisory Committee and he recently co-edited the book Terrorizing Ourselves: How U.S. Counterterrorism Policy Is Failing and How to Fix It.

Mr. Harper has been cited and quoted by numerous print, Internet, and television outlets, and his scholarly articles have appeared in the Administrative Law Review, the Minnesota Law Review, and the Hastings Constitutional Law Quarterly. Harper wrote the book Identity Crisis: How Identification Is Overused and Misunderstood. He also maintains the online federal spending resource WashingtonWatch.com. An alumnus of the 2011 Young Leaders Conference, he holds a J.D. from UC Hastings College of Law.
