

The U.S. - Swiss Business Relationship

The United States and Switzerland have a rich history of friendly and prosperous business relations. Today, with a combined nearly $270 billion in direct investments in each other's countries and hundreds of thousands of jobs created by Swiss companies in the U.S. and American companies in Switzerland, the U.S. - Swiss business relationship continues to thrive and influence the economies of both nations. To learn more about the facts and figures of this relationship, please follow the links below:

Swiss - U.S. Trade and Investment Fact Sheet Published by the Swiss Federal Department of Economic Affairs in September 2009.

Friendly Cooperation or Business Warfare? Martin Naville, CEO of the Swiss-American Chamber of Commerce, discusses the U.S. - Swiss Business relationship in this article, featured in the January/February 2010 issue of Swiss Business.

Swiss Companies and U.S. Employment Information about the impact of Swiss companies on the U.S. job market, gathered by the Swiss-American Chamber of Commerce in Spring 2010.

Please also see our Business News section, which features regular updates from Martin Naville on current events in the U.S. - Swiss business relationship.